Client Follow-Up System: Handover Guide

Prepared by Reez San Gabriel

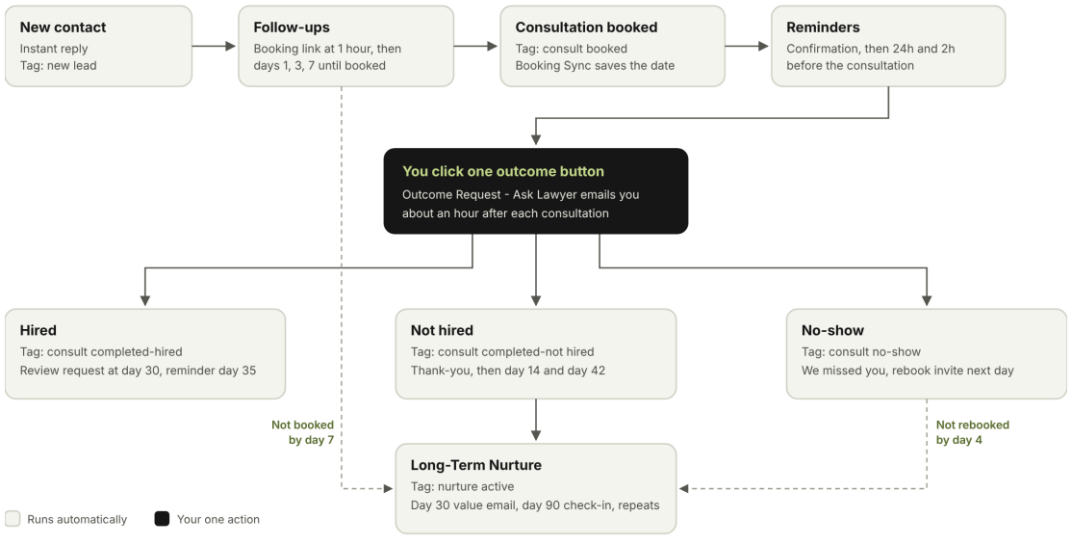

Your follow-up system runs on its own: it replies to new leads, reminds people about appointments, recovers no-shows, and asks happy clients for reviews. Your only daily task is one click after each consultation.

> Sample guide. This shows the handover guide that comes with every build, using a client follow-up system designed for a law firm as the example. Tag and workflow names match the example system. In a real project, they match the names in your account.

Keep this guide somewhere easy to find. It covers what runs automatically, the one thing you do, how to make common changes yourself, what to check if something looks off, and what support is included.

How it fits together

Every lead moves through the same path. Light boxes run on their own; the dark box is your one action.

What's running

Eight workflows run in your GoHighLevel account. You never need to start or stop them; each one begins when something specific happens.

Workflow	Starts when	What it does
Lead to Consultation	A new contact is created, from a form, an ad, or added by hand	Replies instantly and adds the new lead tag, sends a booking link after 1 hour, then follows up on days 1, 3, and 7. Still unbooked after day 7, they move to long-term nurture
Booking Sync Tag & Field Update	Someone books through the booking link or calendar	Adds the consult booked tag and saves the appointment date
Consultation Reminders	The consult booked tag is added	Sends a booking confirmation, a reminder 24 hours before, and a final reminder 2 hours before
Outcome Request - Ask Lawyer	The consult booked tag is added	About an hour after the appointment, emails you to report the outcome. Reminds you the next day if you haven't
No-Show Recovery	You click "No-show" (consult no-show tag)	Sends a "we missed you" email, then a second rebooking invite the next day. Still unbooked after 4 days, they move to long-term nurture

Workflow	Starts when	What it does
Post Consultation - Did Not Hire	You click "Not hired" (consult completed-not hired tag)	Sends a thank-you right away, value content on day 14, and a check-in on day 42. Still unbooked, they move to long-term nurture
Long-Term Nurture ("Stay Top of Mind")	The nurture active tag is added by any of the workflows above	Sends a value email 30 days in and a check-in 60 days after that, then repeats the cycle until they book or are removed
Review Request	You click "Hired" (consult completed-hired tag)	Sends a review request 30 days later, then a gentle reminder 5 days after that

Each workflow appears under exactly this name in Automation, then Workflows, so you can find it by searching for it.

Your part: one click after each consultation

About an hour after each consultation, you receive an email from the Outcome Request - Ask Lawyer workflow with the client's name and three buttons. Click the one that matches what happened. You don't need to log in to GoHighLevel.

Button	Click it when	What happens next
Hired	The person became a client	They receive a review request 30 days later
Not hired	They decided not to go ahead, or are still thinking	A thank-you email, check-ins over the next 6 weeks, then long-term nurture
No-show	They didn't attend	A "we missed you" email and a rebooking invite

A few things to know:

- Click once. Clicking a second button can start a second sequence, so if you pick the wrong one, don't click again. Let me know and I'll correct the contact.
- No click, no follow-up. If you haven't clicked after a day, you get one reminder. Until you click, that person gets nothing further.
- The page after you click confirms the update. You can close it.

Message schedule

This is exactly what your leads and clients receive, and when. Every timing can be changed; see Making common changes yourself.

Workflow	Message	Sent
Lead to Consultation	Instant reply	Immediately when the contact is created
Lead to Consultation	Booking link email	1 hour later, if not booked
Lead to Consultation	Day 1 follow-up	Day 1, if not booked
Lead to Consultation	Day 3 follow-up	Day 3, if not booked
Lead to Consultation	Final follow-up	Day 7, if not booked; then the new lead tag is removed and nurture active is added
Consultation Reminders	Booking confirmation	Immediately after booking
Consultation Reminders	24-hour reminder	24 hours before the consultation
Consultation Reminders	Final reminder	2 hours before the consultation
Outcome Request - Ask Lawyer	Outcome email (to you)	About an hour after the appointment
Outcome Request - Ask Lawyer	Reminder (to you)	1 day later, if no outcome has been reported

Workflow	Message	Sent
No-Show Recovery	"We missed you" email	Immediately after you click No-show
No-Show Recovery	Second rebooking invite	Day 1, if not rebooked; still unbooked on day 4, they move to long-term nurture
Post Consultation - Did Not Hire	Thank-you email	Immediately after you click Not hired
Post Consultation - Did Not Hire	Value content	Day 14, if not booked
Post Consultation - Did Not Hire	Check-in	Day 42, if not booked; then they move to long-term nurture
Long-Term Nurture	Value email	30 days after joining, if not booked
Long-Term Nurture	Check-in	60 days later, if not booked; then the cycle starts again
Review Request	Review request	30 days after you click Hired (adjustable)
Review Request	Gentle reminder	5 days later

Follow-ups marked "if not booked" check for the consult booked tag first, so people who have scheduled aren't chased. The 30-day wait before review requests can be set to whatever suits your practice.

Making common changes yourself

These four changes are safe to make on your own. For anything else, ask me first.

Change the wording of an email or text

1. In GoHighLevel, go to Automation, then Workflows.
2. Open the workflow that sends the message (the table above shows which one).
3. Click the email or SMS step, edit the text, and click Save.
4. Leave anything in curly braces, like {{contact.first_name}}, exactly as it is. Those fill in each person's details.

Change when reminders go out

1. Open the Consultation Reminders workflow.
2. Click the wait step before the reminder you want to move, change the time, and click Save.
3. Test with a sample booking afterward. People already waiting may not pick up the new timing, so tell me if you change it while bookings are pending.

Update your Google review link

1. Open the Review Request workflow.
2. Click the message step and replace the old link with the new one.
3. Send yourself a test message to check the link opens your review page.

Stop messages to one person

1. Open the contact in GoHighLevel.
2. Turn on Do Not Disturb (DND) on their contact record. This stops texts and emails to that person.
3. To remove someone completely, use the Remove from workflow option on their contact record.

Do not touch

The system decides what to send by reading tags, fields, and links. Renaming or deleting any of these silently breaks the step that depends on them. Messages stop, and nothing warns you.

Item	Where it lives	Why it matters
new lead, consult booked, consult completed-hired, consult completed-not hired, consult no-show, review requested	Contact tags	Each tag starts a workflow or tells one to stop nurture active	Contact tags	Removing and re-adding it is how the long-term sequence repeats
Appointment date custom field	Custom fields	The 24-hour and 2-hour reminders count from this date
The three outcome Trigger Links	Marketing, then Trigger Links	Your outcome buttons point to these exact links
Pipeline stages: New Lead, Consult Booked, Consult Completed, Hired, Not Hired, Nurture, Closed	Opportunities, then Pipelines	Workflows move contacts into these stages, so deleting one breaks that step
The booking calendar	Calendars	The booking sync listens to this specific calendar

Adding new tags, fields, or calendars is fine. It's renaming or deleting the ones above that causes problems. If you need one changed, tell me and I'll update every step that uses it.

When something looks wrong

Most problems come from a missing detail on one contact, not a broken system. Check the first item in each row before anything else.

What you notice	Check first	Then
A client didn't get a reminder	Their contact has the appointment date filled in and the consult booked tag	Open their contact and look at the workflow history for errors
Nobody is getting text messages	Your phone number's SMS registration status in Settings	If it shows pending or rejected, texts are blocked until it's approved
Emails are landing in spam	Your sending domain is connected and verified	Send a test to yourself and check the spam folder
You didn't get an outcome email	The appointment is still in the calendar and wasn't cancelled or moved	Check your own spam folder for the outcome email
A contact got the wrong follow-up	Which outcome button was clicked for them	Tell me and I'll correct the contact
A new lead got no reply	Whether they were already a contact. The sequence only starts for brand-new contacts	Tell me how it came in, so I can confirm that source is connected

To see exactly what happened to one person, open their contact and check the workflow history. It shows every step they went through, with times.

Monthly 5-minute check

Once a month, run through these to catch problems before your clients notice them.

☐ Open each workflow's execution logs and look for errors or skipped steps
☐ Confirm your SMS registration still shows as approved
☐ Click your Google review link and make sure it opens your review page
☐ Check that last month's new leads have the new lead tag
☐ Every few months, book a test consultation with your own email to confirm reminders still arrive

Test record

Reminder timing was verified against a real test booking, not just assumed from the workflow settings. One item is still unconfirmed and is listed so it gets checked.

What was tested	How	Result
24-hour and 2-hour reminders	Booked a real test consultation and checked the execution logs	Both reminders fired at the correct times
Long-term nurture repeat cycle	Built with the remove and re-add tag pattern	Not yet confirmed in a full live cycle

In a client project, this table lists every check run before handover. The standard checks are:

- Each workflow run once with a test contact, start to finish
- Each outcome button clicked, confirming the right tag and workflow follow
- Email and SMS delivery confirmed on a real phone and inbox
- A booking, a cancellation, and a reschedule each tested on the calendar

Known limitations

Every system has limits. These are the ones worth knowing up front.

- Every new contact starts the sequence. The welcome sequence runs for any newly created contact. Importing a contact list may start it for everyone on that list, so tell me before you import.
- Returning leads don't restart it. Someone who is already a contact won't get the welcome sequence again when they inquire.
- Long-term nurture depends on one tag. GoHighLevel can't loop a workflow on its own, so the long-term nurture repeats by removing and re-adding the nurture active tag. If that tag is removed by hand, the cycle stops for that person.
- Your click drives the next step. Until you report an outcome, that person gets no further follow-up. You get one reminder after a day. Clicking two different buttons can start two sequences.
- The review reminder goes to everyone. The system can't see whether someone already left a review, so the gentle reminder includes a line asking them to ignore it if they have. A fix is suggested below.
- Texts need approved registration. Until your SMS registration is approved, text messages won't send. Emails still go out.
- Only calendar bookings get reminders. Appointments added outside the booking link or calendar, like one written down from a phone call, won't trigger reminders unless they're added there.
- New domains can land in spam. Emails from a newly connected sending domain may go to spam at first, until the domain builds a sending history.

Recommended Improvements

Two improvements are recommended for a live setup.

Improvement	Why it matters	Status
An "I already left a review" button in the review request	One click adds a review left tag, and the gentle reminder is skipped for that person	Suggested
Long-term nurture capped at about 12 months	Endless emails to contacts who never reply can hurt your sender reputation and push all your emails toward spam	Suggested

Support after handover

For 30 days after handover, anything that doesn't work as built is fixed free, and you get 2 free small adjustments.

What	Included
Fixes	Anything not working as built is fixed free for 30 days
Small adjustments	2 free within 30 days, such as changing message wording or timing
New workflows or features	Quoted separately before any work starts

What	Included
Response time	Acknowledged within 1 business day; most fixes done within 2 to 3 business days
Working days	Monday to Friday, Philippine time (GMT+8). Weekend messages are answered on Monday.
After 30 days	Fixes and changes are quoted per request

To request a fix, email the contact's name, what happened, what you expected, and a screenshot if you have one. That's usually enough to find the cause on the first look.

Accounts and getting help

Everything runs in accounts you own. Nothing depends on my accounts, so the system keeps working even if we stop working together.

Account	Used for	Owner
GoHighLevel sub-account	All workflows, contacts, calendar, and pipeline	Your firm
Booking calendar	Consultation bookings	Your firm
Sending email domain	Outgoing emails	Your firm
Phone number	Text messages	Your firm
Google Business Profile	Review link	Your firm

When the project ends, remove my user from your GoHighLevel team settings. For questions or changes, contact reezsangabriel@gmail.com.